The above listed information has been missing for decades. Research conducted could not find any online sources that had these important details. Nor could any be found in archival records that could be accessed. History is never really ever complete. But certainly to be lacking the results of a Taekwon-Do World Championship is a major shortcoming to say the least. After all, shouldn't those that travel to compete against the best that the world sends and win, be recognized and have their place cemented in history so that others will both know and follow their examples?

Well, thanks to the graciousness of Grandmaster Nestor Galarraga, the world can finally view the long lost results of the 3rd ITF World Championship. Grandmaster Galarraga immediately shared these missing results as soon as he was asked. This way he insured the international community could have this important information.

Thank you Grandmaster Galarraga for your kind thoughtfulness! We wish others would follow this generous path of cooperation.
